Governor Presses For Site Decision

... On GI-North Platte Interstate

By Betty Person

Gov. Ralph Brooks Sunday pressed hard upon the State Highway Advisory Commission to make final recommendation Monday on location of the Interstate Highway between Grand Island and North Platte.

"The indecision of the years can be abided no longer and Nebraska's Interstate Highway System commands our mutual attention," Brooks said in a letter to Commission members slated to meet in Lincoln Monday and who are expected to make a final recommendation.

"I expect to render a decision shortly after receiving your recommendation, and to inaugurate the preliminary work preparatory to construction of this important thoroughfare," said the governor.

Highway Department plans confirmed last week that crews are ready to begin work on the segment immediately upon U.S. Bureau of Roads approval which should come within 30 days.

Timetable Set

Under the Department timetable, project agreements with the federal government are expected to be

Permanent GNI Head Is Kemper Officers Named

Grand Island (P) — The Greater Nebraska Interstate Inc., formed to oppose the high priority given the downtown Omaha route for the Inter-State Highway, Sunday elected Gene Kemper as permanent president.

The Alliance publisher had been temporary chairman of the group.

Other officers named by the Executive Board include Homer Loutzheizer of Gothenburg, vice president; Bennett Martin of Lincoln, secretary, and Tom Waldo of Orleans, treasurer.

The Republican Valley Bank of Orleans was named official depository for the new organization.

Hyde on Committee

The group voted to place the 4 officers, plus Bill Hyde of Grand Island, on the Executive Committee.

The GNI was formed with the expressed purpose of opposing the high priority given Route 3, the downtown Omaha route of the Interstate, ahead of construction west of Lincoln.

Gov. Ralph Brooks has granted the GNI a hearing Feb. 2 on priorities for the super-highway, which eventually will stretch from one end of Nebraska to the other.

Four districts were set up from which 15 members of the GNI Board of directors were chosen.

They are:

District 1—That part of Nebraska not included in the other 3 districts; 5 directors.

District 2—the area 25 miles either side of the Interstate, starting at the eastern city limits of Grand Island and Hastings and extending to the western city limits of North Platte; 4 directors.

District 3—The area 25 miles either side of the Interstate, west of North Platte; two directors.

District 4—the area 25 miles either side of the Interstate, east of Grand Island and Hastings; two directors.

Directors elected were:

Bud Husar, Columbus; Chalk of Columbus; Tom Waldo of Orleans; Robert Kramer, Sr. of Scottsbluff; D. C. Harvey of Wauerna; Gen. Kemper of Alton; and Arthur J. Hough of Grand Island.

State Sen. Norman Otto of Kearney; James Conaway of Hastings; M. R. Kammerhofer of Lexington; Cecil Kraft of Holdrege.

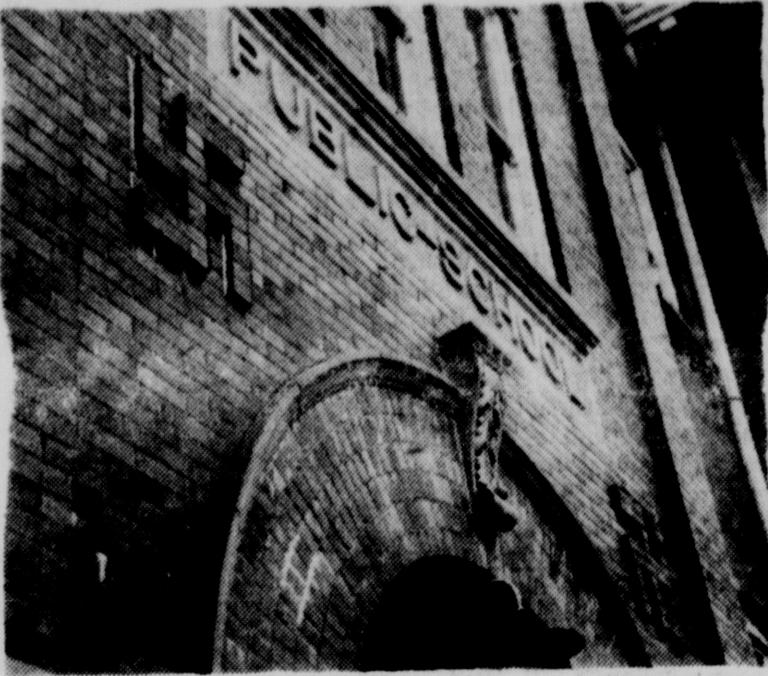

District 3—Gerald McKinley of Ogallala and Wayne Moran of Sidney.

District 4—Bennett Martin of Lincoln and Dean Sack of York.

Forty-eight persons attended the meeting, representing Alliance, Rushville, Lincoln, Friend, Crawford, Scottsbluff, North Platte, Harrison, Grand Island, Wauerna, Imperial, Gibson, Minden, Hastings, Ogallala, Paxton, Kearney, Holdrege, Orleans, Elwood, Republican City, Wood River, Gothenburg, Columbus, York, Lexington, Cozad and Sidney.

LUCK NOT BIGOTRY FROM SWASTIKAS AT FAIRBURY

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Fairbury—It's a cinch that two swastikas over the front door of a grade school here have nothing to do with the current anti-semitic outbreak around the world.

Nor for any other bigotry, for they were put on nearly 60 years ago — long before anybody heard of Adolf Hitler or the notorious Nazi emblem. The "writing material" was solid brick instead of the now-popular green paint being splashed on synagogues and schools in many countries.

Nobody seems to know the whys and wherefores of the Fairbury swastikas, except that the raised bricks obviously were put in when the school was built about 1900.

The insignias especially raised some eyebrows in World War II. Custodian Oren Boley says he has been asked many times about the mystery, and only wishes he could tell folks exactly why they are there.

Mrs. Della Uldrich, West Ward principal for 8 years, said it is believed the swastikas are Indian symbols, but has no idea why they appear on the school. Supt. F. Don MacLay remarked that he "feels they are only ornaments, with no particular meaning."

Since the swastikas are the reverse of one another, it is unlikely they had any great symbolism, Indian or otherwise.

"We've always heard they were Indian signs for good luck," said Mrs. Uldrich. "That must be right, because we're going to get a new school soon—without swastikas."

Frederick S. Aldrich Dies At 60

Bank Officer Was Civic Leader Here

Frederick Schuyler Aldrich, 60, senior vice president of the Continental National Bank and active in civic affairs here, died in his home Sunday morning.

"I believe that every possible opportunity has been extended to those favoring a location on one side or the other of the Platte River to make their presentation," wrote Brooks.

"It would appear that you should now be in a position to make a recommendation to me," the governor declared.

"In order that there will be a clear and decisive record of your action, I request you to send a letter to me setting forth your recommendation," said the governor.

"I look forward to your cooperation in reaching a decision at your current meeting," Brooks concluded.

Attention: Irrigator

... USE A TENSIMETER FOR RESULTS

By Glenn Kreuscher
Staff Farm Writer

Don't guess on when to irrigate. Use a tensiometer. This is the recommendation of irrigation authorities who have been experimenting with this new instrument.

A tensiometer consists of a sealed water-filled tube equipped with a vacuum ceramic tip that is installed in the soil at desired root depth.

When the ceramic tip of the tensiometer is in dry soil water is drawn out, reducing the water volume in the instrument and creating a partial vacuum which is registered on a gauge. The drier the soil the higher the reading.

Reserves Action

Water added by irrigation or rainfall reverses this action.

If you practice irrigation and have been guessing when to start and stop applying water on your soil—this is probably the instrument you should use.

Irrigators who have used the instrument call it a real aid to water conservation.

Most of the water that is used by transpiration through the leaves occurs from the rapid growth stage through the milk stage for corn, according to Paul Fischbach, extension engineer, University of Nebraska.

High Yields

"Optimum soil moisture within the root zone at these stages is important for high yields," he said.

Folks who have used tensiometers recommend them as a good method of determining when one-half of the readily available moisture has been removed by the plants.

It is recommended that the tensiometers be set 100 feet from the upper end and lower end of the irrigation run. Two can be set per station one 18 inches deep and the other 36 inches deep. Records from these two instruments can be used to determine when to start and stop irrigating.

Will Vary

The amount of irrigation will vary with the soil texture and the depth of moisture required.

A field moisture test should supplement the use of tensiometers.

Extension work has shown them valuable for:

The tensiometer evaluates: 1. Water use; 2. Moisture in any soil; 3. Penetration of water.

The tensiometer tells: 1. When to irrigate; 2. When to stop irrigation.

The tensiometer prevents water waste and fertilized waste.

'60 Auto Show Draws 13,000

The final attendance for the 1960 Lincoln auto show was 13,000 about 9,000 under the 1958 total of 22,044.

Pershing Auditorium Manager Dick Wagner said the drop in attendance could be largely attributed to the road conditions, which prevented people from outside Lincoln in attending.

The figures for Sunday ran about 4,000, Wagner said.

The show, which ran for 5 days, featured such entertainers as former Champagne Lady Alice Lon, the Sportsman Quartet and Florian Zabach and his orchestra.

Space Project Termned Risky By Demo Unit

Washington (UPI)—Democratic Party scientific advisers have accused the Eisenhower administration of risking national prestige and possibly a human life in trying to beat Russia at getting a man into space.

At the same time, they called for more money and more emphasis on the nation's overall space program. "We feel the entire space effort lacks emphasis and is underfunded," said one member of the Democratic advisory committee on science and technology. The 17-man group is a special adjunct of the Democratic advisory council.

In assaulting this country's man-in-space Mercury project, committee members expressed fear that an attempt may be made to get an American into outer space before there is every assurance he can be brought back safely.

The Norwegian ship was identified as the 11,000-ton tanker Gorm and was said to be fully loaded with oil. The Santa Alicia is owned by Grace Lines Inc., of New York and was built in Oakland in 1945.

Gunshot Victim Listed In 'Critical Condition'

Nebraska City (UPI)—William Barada, 47, Nebraska City, was listed in critical condition Sunday in a hospital here where he was being treated for gunshot wounds he suffered Thursday.

Barada was shot in the arm twice and in the left chest once Thursday night during an argument with another man.

Harold Maybee, 33, Nebraska City, was released on $1,000 bond after pleading innocent to a charge of shooting with intent to kill.

Cuba Picture Given Herter At His Home

Washington (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Sunday got a firsthand report on the tense Cuban situation at a conference in his home. Philip W. Bonsal, the U.S. ambassador to Cuba who flew back to Washington Saturday night "for consultations," briefed Herter and Roy R. Rubottom, assistant secretary for inter-American affairs, for 1½ hours at Herter's Georgetown residence.

Neither Herter nor his two assistants would comment on the conference afterward. Rubottom called it a "preliminary conversation" to be continued Monday at the State Department.

Ambassador Bonsal refused to answer any questions. "I have spoken my piece yesterday," he said, referring to airport statements he made in New York and Washington.

Bonsal said during a brief stopover in New York that U.S.-Cuban relations were "seriously deteriorating." He added in Washington he had "no intimation at all" of any Cuban desire for conciliation.

Though all 3 officials were extremely cautious in what they said after Sunday's conference, their unsmiling attitude seemed to convey that Bonsal's report had presented a grim picture of the Cuban situation.

That Bonsal should be called to Herter's home on Sunday was taken as underscoring the gravity of U.S. concern over developments during the past week.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson has this to say about our food supply and chemicals used by agriculture: "Our food supply in the United States is the safest, cleanest, and most wholesome in the world."

The wide variety of chemicals used today in all phases essential for efficient production of foods on the farm as are tractors, improved varieties of crops and better breeds of livestock.

"We cannot continue to produce adequate amounts of safe and wholesome foods without chemicals."

Victor McClure, Thayer County extension agent, has a suggestion for protecting trees from rabbits.

Young trees and shrubs may be protected under most conditions by applying repellants to the trunks and lower branches. One that is easy to make is a dry lime sulphur paint.

Mix enough of this into sufficient water to make a thin paint. Apply it to the trunks and lower branches with a paint brush or a rag swab on the end of a stick.

The addition of a pound of cheap commercial glue, dissolved in warm water, to each gallon of paint will make it stick better and last longer he recommended.

Another McClure suggestion: "You can't beat a good dog and a shot gun for keeping the rabbit population down."

"You may not get them all but you will get enough to keep the numbers under control."

The American Hereford Association will stage a special Hereford show this fall for delegates and visitors attending the World Hereford Conference.

The World Hereford Conference will open in Kansas City August 21 with representatives of Hereford associations attending from all parts of the world.

The special show will be held in connection with the Iowa State Fair Sept. 1-2.

Nebraska's December milk production totaled 147 million pounds, up two million pounds from last year.

The State-Federal Division of Agriculture Statistics reports that total 1959 milk production was estimated at 2,056 million pounds, about 3% less than in 1958.

The United States, one of the world's major hog producers, imports more pork than it exports.

An agricultural department official said this situation has existed since the end of World War II.

FBI Still Has Spears Case Under Wraps

Phoenix, Ariz. (UPI)—The doors of the Phoenix office of the FBI were locked again Sunday, and so were the mouths of agents investigating the Robert Vernon Spears case.

The portly Dallas naturalist, once believed killed in the Nov. 16 crash of an airliner into the Gulf of Mexico, was arrested Wednesday in Phoenix by the FBI.

Since then, agents have refused to answer any questions concerning the case and Spears has told newsmen, "They won't let me talk to you."

The FBI is investigating the possibility that the heavily insured ex-convict planted a bomb on the ill-fated flight from Tampa, Fla., to New Orleans. Forty-two persons were killed in the crash.

Dynamite and blasting caps were found at the desert home near Phoenix of William A. Turska, 49-year-old naturalist, with whom Spears lived for nearly two months before his arrest.

Spears and Turska were questioned at length Thursday and Friday and Turska asked for a brief session with agents behind locked doors Saturday. Apparently, however, he shed no new light on the case.

Spears remained in his county jail cell, which he shares with several other prisoners. He has not requested a lawyer.

Foremost Auto Salesman Dies

Detroit (UPI)—Chevrolet's Super salesman is dead, 3 weeks after a heart condition forced his retirement as the automobile division's advertising director.

In his 32 years with Chevrolet, William G. (Bill) Power preached salesmanship with an evangelistic fervor. He was known throughout the auto industry as "the Billy Sunday of salesmanship."

Power had even more gimmicks as a public speaker than evangelist Billy Sunday who a generation ago swayed people to hit the sawdust trail and lead new lives.

The great salesman died in a hospital here. Pneumonia was the immediate cause of death. He was 63.

Among his platform props were bells clanging, sirens screaming or whistles blowing. Sometimes he would toss golf balls, silver dollars or cigars out into the audience.

Trieste's Descent A Longer Trip Than Estimated

By Associated Press

"The bottom was much deeper than we had figured."

That report came from one of the two scientists who Saturday rode the U.S. Navy bathyscaphe to a record depth of 37,800 feet, or more than 7 miles, in the Pacific Ocean off Guam.

Lt. Don Walsh, who accompanied Jacques Piccard, of the famous Swiss scientific family, aboard the bathyscaphe Trieste, said soundings had indicated a depth of 33,600 feet, but the hole into which they settled at the bottom was another 4,200 feet down.

The Navy released this report from Walsh, a Berkeley, Calif., native:

"Our first indication that we were going down was when the craft began to tilt stern first and the awful rolling in the sea swells diminished. Finally, our gauges showed that we were on our way and we settled down to the familiar routine of the deep dive."

"It stayed light outside until about 800 feet when we saw our last bit of daylight. The trip to the bottom was long but uneventful. Both Jacques and myself were kept quite busy recording our data and piloting our inner-space craft.

Mercury Drops

"At around 6,000 feet we began to feel the chill creeping into the sphere and we took a few minutes out to change into our heavy clothing. Once this maneuver was accomplished we both felt better and decided to have some lunch. Our repast consisted of one chocolate bar apiece.

"The bottom was touched as lightly as a feather though we did stir up a cloud of mud when the sphere touched. After about 20 minutes of data taking on the bottom we released shot (buckshot ballast) and headed for the surface.

"The trip up was essentially the same as the one down with the exception that it was quite a bit faster. Once on the surface Jacques and I let ourselves out of the sphere and went topside. We found a regular beehive of activity.

The ships, which were some 7 miles away, started their approach and within an hour and a half we had Trieste under tow from Guam, and we were back on the (destroyer escort) Lewis headed for port."

Recipe For Genius

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

When the American public begins to wonder about the genius of the nation, it should not be too critical. In fact, whatever criticism there is might well be directed in the first instance toward the individuals themselves rather than any group or institutions such as the schools. For one thing, the schools are little more than a reflection of what a majority of the public wants.

A good school administrator will bring his institution up to the highest standards he possibly can but he is very limited by what the public wants. If the public demands a new gymnasium instead of a new science lab, then it is generally the gym which is built. And an administrator or teacher with a curriculum so difficult that half the pupils are flunking will find things so unpleasant that he cannot tolerate it. He either leaves his job or compromises his principles with public demand. If he does the former, he will be constantly on the move throughout his life and eventually arrive at the point where he cannot even find a job.

But parents have an even greater control of real genius than this. According to a report recently published by the Smithsonian Institution, there are three factors common to genius. This was developed in a thesis advanced by Dr. Harold G. McCurdy, University of North Carolina psychologist, based on a study of the childhood of 20 generally admitted men of supreme ability in various lines, from political to literary.

Besides being naturally intelligent to start with, the 20 men all had these characteristics: (1) a high degree of attention focused on the child by parents and other adults, expressed in intensive educational measures and, usually, abundant love; (2) isolation from other children, especially outside the family; (3) a rich efflorescence of fantasy, as a reaction to the other two conditions.

If ever there was a basis for controversy, this offers one. If the emergence of these characteristics among those in the genius class means that no one can enter this class without these characteristics, then you would find millions of parents who would say to heck with genius. There would be

Children Of Winter

The Weather Bureau is no friend of man nor beast.

It refuses to give forth with the encouraging word even though a fortnight of cold weather is more than anyone asked for.

It sees nothing but more of the same, for another week anyway.

The fact that three-fourths of the nation is in the same icy grip is small comfort—about the same a person would feel in an emergency ward to find that the other beds are also occupied by people in misery. It gives a feeling of companionship but none of relief.

The grim fact is that we are in the dead of winter, having at least two and a half months of it. November was unusually cold this year.

Hennings-Keating Amendment

One of the initial acts of the new Congress was the Senate's 50 to 39 approval of the Hennings-Keating amendment which would include nominating primaries under the Federal Election Spending controls.

This is an interesting step toward uncensored elections because of its historical connotations. Such go back to a specific instance in 1918.

At that time popular auto maker Henry Ford of Michigan sought the Republican nomination for the Senate. He was opposed by Truman Newberry. It was an excessively hard fought battle within the Michigan Republican party and a great deal of money was spent.

After a close vote and a recount Newberry was declared the winner. The Republican party was successful in the general election and Newberry went to Washington as the newly elected Senator.

The excesses during his campaign resulted in strong opposition to granting him a seat, but finally he was seated after a close vote. But meantime an investigation indicated a million dollar campaign which was many times in excess of the limit set by the federal Corrupt Practices act. Newberry was

In Short Supply

In the opinion of Freeman Decker, state commissioner of education it will take enlarged jurisdiction and more pay to cure what ails Nebraska's county superintendent set up.

It was significant that in the last election 20 Nebraska counties were unable to skirmish up a candidate for the office. This is in contrast to earlier times when a county superintendency was considered a highly desirable post and the campaigns of rivals for the post frequently provided the most burning issues of the general election.

Decker told the Legislative Council Committee on School Districts that county superintendencies will be in no greater demand next election and that the state is facing a problem in what is or should be a key position in education's organization for which they are so few bidders that the meaning

Algerian Storm Caps De Gaulle's Loss Of Favor Among Settlers There

By Ulys Yates

Paris (P) — The current shots and cries of outrage in Algiers are rooted in fear and a sense of betrayal.

Many of the same people who riot now were among those who on May 13, 1958 stormed the government building in Algiers and overthrew the local government. That uprising toppled the Fourth French Republic and returned Gen. Charles de Gaulle, to power.

And those who in May, 1958, shouted "de Gaulle, to power," now shout with equal fervor, "de Gaulle to the state."

Why the about face? Why was the man who was hailed as the savior of Algeria now cursed as its betrayer?

In the Algeria of today there is almost no room for a moderate voice — and that is what de Gaulle has tried to bring to the tangled problem of the 5 year-old rebellion.

Millions In Middle

On the one hand is the Algerian rebel army sworn to fight until Algeria is free of French rule. On the other are the million European settlers sworn to keep Algeria French. In between is the mass of 9 million Algerians who want to be left in peace.

When the insurgents, military and civilian, brought de Gaulle to power they believed they were backing a man who would support their views — crush the rebellion and keep the French settlers in their position of power.

But de Gaulle confined his comments at the time to almost semi-mystical phrases evoking French grandeur and the necessity for cooperation. "I understand you," de Gaulle told the crowds in Algeria at that time, and the crowds cheered, thinking that it, too, understood de Gaulle.

Unhappy Outcome

De Gaulle waited almost a year and half after taking power before putting forth a definite plan for Algeria. When it came, the plan was a bitter blow to the Algerian rightwingers.

De Gaulle proposed in a speech last Sept. 16 to give Algeria the right of self-determination. Once peace is restored, de Gaulle said, Algerians — Moslems and settlers alike — could vote on 3 alternatives. They were outright independence, local autonomy or complete union with France.

Many European settlers feared that, given a choice, the overwhelming Algerian majority would choose independence. Even local autonomy with the possibility of Algerian domination was distasteful.

Opposition Swells

Slowly resentment against de Gaulle and his plan began building up in Algeria. A series of spectacular rebel raids around Algiers fed fuel to the settlers' indignation. There were mass meetings. The threats became uglier. There was open talk of defiance.

The situation came to a head last Friday when de Gaulle removed from command of the Algiers district Gen. Jacques Massu. The tough paratroop general had given an interview to a German newspaper in which he was quoted as criticizing de Gaulle's policy.

Massu is one of the most popular figures in Algiers. He was head of the Public Safety Committee which briefly held power in Algiers when the government was overthrown in 1958. He is looked upon as the biggest hero of the May uprising and is the symbol of the diehard rightwingers. Nothing the government could have done — outside of negotiations with the rebels — could have been calculated to infuriate the Algerian European population more than this action.

State Of Flux Covers Gubernatorial Puzzle

By Don Walton

The Republican gubernatorial puzzle remains in flux some 7 weeks before primary election filing deadlines, with a number of name candidates waiting to see what each other intends to do.

For instance, it is assumed that former Gov. Victor Anderson will not enter the fray if Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton does.

Seaton, who is still the subject of considerable political pressure to seek the governor's chair, has not yet made his entry — still considered unlikely — would probably cut the Republican gubernatorial field considerably.

Then, there is State Sen. Terry Carpenter.

Carpenter, if he is to seek the governorship (or a U.S. Senate seat), must file by March 1, some 10 days before Anderson would need to declare his intentions.

(Statutes provide that incumbent office holders who seek to gain election to a different office must file 10 days before other candidates.)

Waiting For Terry?

Thus, it was speculated Sunday, Anderson will likely await Carpenter's announcement before he makes his 1960 political plans—if any—known.

Some Anderson supporters believe that if the former governor does enter the gubernatorial primary and if his filing follows that of Carpenter, Anderson could gain the psychological advantage of "challenging" Terry.

Carpenter has himself dared Anderson to enter the governor's race. If he did so, Terry has pledged, Carpenter would then also enter the fracas.

Turn-about might dull the Carpenter blade, Anderson Republicans claim.

In any event, the waiting and maneuvering continue as time grows short. Upon the decisions of Seaton and Carpenter hang the political plans of a number of GOP gubernatorial hopefuls.

Two Republicans have thus far filed—State Sen. John Cooper of Humboldt and Lincoln accountant Del Lieuemann.

Auburn Residents Tour New School

Auburn—Dedication ceremonies at the modern Calvert elementary school here drew a crowd of from 300 to 400 persons to tour the $190,000 structure.

Brief ceremonies led by Supt. Richard Behrends preceded a two-hour open house at the 175-pupil school Sunday.

The dedication was postponed last week because of weather conditions.

Holy Trinity Junior Warden

The Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal, elected Dr. Everett E. Angle as junior warden at its annual meeting Sunday.

The parish also approved the 1960 budget of $43,917 as compared with 1959 actual expenditures of $31,470.

Elected to the Vestry were Donald Betts, Robert Guenzel, Ed Wahl, Sidney Anderson and Howard Spahne.

Thomas M. Davies was reaffirmed in his term as senior warden.

Carry-over Vestry members are H. D. Murrell, Harold B. Miles, Harry Haynie, Robert Reynolds, James F. MacLean, Robert Perry and James Kishell.

The Rev. William A. Cross, parish rector, said Easter services would be held in the new church now under construction at 60th & A.

Dedication of the new $500,000 church and parish hall is scheduled for May 22 with Bishop Howard Brinker officiating.

Church services are being held at Millard LeFler School pending completion of the new church which replaces the old building at 12th & J, destroyed by fire in 1957.

Active membership now totals 957 persons.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Tell that a man who thinks his bowed legs are ruining his life to forget about his legs, develop his personality and find himself a nice knock-kneed girl. I married one and offer this little poem for encouragement:

"My knees are knocked, his legs are bowed,
And to this fact much bliss is owed.

And of our marriage, this I say.

When we're together we spell O.K."

Sincerely yours,
Happily Married

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 years old and accepted an engagement ring from a man of 26. I suppose this will sound crazy to you but here goes: I have a baby born out of wedlock and I want a father for her so badly that I think I would marry anyone who loved her although I didn't love the man. What I am trying to say, Abby, is that I do not love this man I am engaged to. But he loves my baby and I'm afraid if I don't marry him I might never get another chance to marry someone who will accept my child.

I am nice looking and come from a nice family, but I know that not many men will marry an unwed mother.

The man I'm engaged to says he loves me, but I can't truthfully say that I love him. He is like a good friend or brother to me. Would I be foolish to pass him up under the circumstances?

NEEDING HELP

Prenuptial Courtesy

In prenuptial courtesy to Miss Irene Uehling and her fiance, Chris B. Alexander, whose marriage will take place on Saturday evening, Feb. 12, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Severson and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Behm entertained a small group of guests at dinner on Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Severson.

Extension Group Meets

The January meeting of the Plainview Extension Club was held last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Louis Meyer. The Lesson on "Fabrics for Quality and Beauty" was presented by Mrs. Lee Hunt and Mrs. Stanley Vanderslice.

Food For Thought

Furniture fashions did a turnaround in the '50's. More changes are forecast for the '60's — new plastics and disposable furniture.

This decade got off to a modern start with contemporary furniture, particularly Danish designs. The modern look continued until about 1959, when it gave ground to Early American styles.

Women, tired of the straight lines of early modern, craved traditional fur-

DEAR NEEDING: If you can't return his love — return his ring.

DEAR ABBY: A relative of mine got a divorce after having been married for twenty years. She never married after that. But her ex-husband did.

He died a few months ago and now she goes around calling herself a "widow". Isn't she still a "divorcee"? And don't you think somebody ought to tell her so?

A RELATIVE

DEAR RELATIVE: She is a "divorcee" whose former husband is deceased. A man leaves only one widow — the woman to whom he was married at the time of his death.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren to care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed envelope.

The bidding:

Pass 4 ♣ Dbl.

Opening lead — tow of diamonds.

This hand was played in the match between Sweden and the United States in 1953. The Swedish North-South pair got to four hearts — which West, with good reason, doubled.

A diamond was led. East won and returned a spade. Declarer went up with the ace and played a club to the nine, the finesse winning. He then discarded two spades on the K-J of diamonds and ruffed a spade.

The queen of clubs brought forth the king and ace, and South ruffed another spade. Declarer was busy making as many of his small trumps as he could. A low heart to the queen won the next trick, but when declarer returned a club to the jack, West ruffed to take the second defensive trick.

West had only three cards left — the A-J-10 of hearts — and could do no better than take two tricks with them, so the contract was defeated only one trick. West had expected a bigger set, and there is no doubt that he was disappointed at the result.

I know . . . I was West. When the same hand was played at the other table, an American pair being North-South, the bidding went:

East South West North
Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠
Pass 2 ♥ Pass 3 ♦
Pass 4 ♣ Dbl.

What North would have done over three hearts, if West had not doubled, is not known. Three notrump could not be defeated and might have been bid.

Against three hearts doubled, West led the jack of hearts. The American declarer took the queen and played a diamond, East at grabbing the ace. South won the spade return with the ace and led the queen of clubs, covered by West, and taken in dummy.

After discarding two spades on the high diamonds, declarer ruffed a spade, led a club to the nine, and ruffed another spade. The jack of clubs was played and trumped. West returned the eight of hearts to endplay South, but declarer made three hearts doubled.

Many designers believe plastic also has a future in upholstered furniture. Molded plastic frames, plastic would give it almost any shape. It's possible, too, that foam rubber could be affixed directly to molded plastic frames, eliminating the need for springs.

Even more unusual materials for furniture probably will appear in the 1960's. Some designers foresee the use of more frankly plastic furniture, with no attempt to make it look like wood. Plastic furniture might lend itself to finishes and colors not generally available on present wood furniture. A plastic table, for example, might have a high-glaze tangerine top to contrast with black legs.

Finally, manufacturers expect to put more high-style furniture on the mass market to meet the increasing demand for good design even on a young family's workers. They want to see budget.

ASK— Dorothy Draper

Perhaps you would like to hear about an apartment I have recently decorated for a friend of mine. The living room is done all in one color, a delicious sky blue. Even the furniture is upholstered in sky blue.

covers and a heavenly-blue acrilon rug, and the same idea could be developed in any room at moderate cost.

Mrs. L. F. S. asks:

"I have a one-room apartment, approximately 15x21, the walls of which are painted a very light gray — almost off white. I have a double Hollywood bed along one wall, the only place that it will fit. Should the cover for this be light or dark in order to make it look smaller and give the illusion of reduced size?"

Dear Mrs. L. F. S.:

Trying to make this bed look smaller would be like trying to hide a Cadillac behind a rose bush — so why try?

Why not make it an interesting high light in the room? Do something dramatic with it like using one of the colorful new Swedish or Spanish rugs on it for a cover, or black corduroy or black burlap, piled with pillows of vivid jewel tones, topaz, emerald, ruby sapphire and onyx.

Mrs. R. R. H. asks:

"Please advise a way to lose a blue-green carpet which now dominates the whole living room. We are planning to furnish traditionally."

Dear Mrs. R. R. H.:

The way to bring your rug to terms is to have colors in the rest of the room that will "take over" and subdue the blue-green emphasis. Royal purple, geranium pink, black, or lemon peel-yellow are some competitive suggestions.

Mrs. D. G. F. asks:

"I would like a pink telephone in my pink kitchen. Do you approve?"

Dear Mrs. D. G. F.:

I certainly do! I love the colored telephones and they do add a gay color note. It has become a new color accessory, and may contrast or match your room scheme.

Mrs. A. R. O. asks:

"My apartment has a hall 3½ yards long and 38 inches wide (no windows) running from the front entrance to my dinette which opens into the living room. I plan to have the living room and the dinette walls painted beige. Would you be kind enough to suggest how this hall could be redecorated and in what color?"

Edison Wheat Wins Milling Show

D. E. Mues Entry Picked

Scottsbluff — An entry of Bison wheat grown by D. E. Mues of Edison has won first place in the 1959 Nebraska milling and baking contest. It marks the 3rd consecutive year that Bison variety has won the top award.

A Cheyenne sample exhibited by Rolland R. Roberts of Bayard was the runner-up entry.

The top 5 winners were revealed as the annual Crop Improvement Days got underway here Monday.

The Mues' entry had placed fourth in the central region of the open class division at the 1959 Nebraska Wheat Show. The Furnas county wheat grower received a trophy provided by the Chadron Milling Co., in addition to the first place ribbon.

Ribbons were presented to Roberts for second place, and to Stephan Harsh, Bartley, 3rd; Lynn A. Wallen, McCook, 4th; and Howard Reimers, Dalton, 5th.

Entries in the state milling and baking contest included the top 5 entries from each of the 3 regions in the open class division (market, certified, 4-H and FFA entries) along with the top 3 entries in the sweepstakes division of the 1959 Nebraska Wheat Show.

The contest is sponsored annually by the Nebraska Grain Improvement Assn. as a follow-up event to the State Wheat Show to point up the importance of milling and baking qualities of wheat.

Factors taken into consideration in judging the samples were: flour protein, flour yield, flour ash, water absorption, mixing required, loaf volume, crumb color, loaf texture and grain, and external appearance.

The samples were milled, baked and scored under the direction of Paul Mattern, who is in charge of the wheat quality laboratory at the University of Nebraska; in cooperation with Howard Johnson, Gooch Milling & Elevator Company, Lincoln.

Starts 98th Year In Driver's Seat

Fremont (AP) — James Weston of Fremont may be starting on his 98th year, but he doesn't look it, and what's more he's still driving a car.

Weston purchased his first car in 1912 and has been driving since. He may well be Fremont's oldest licensed driver.

He came to Nebraska in a covered wagon as a child and farmed near Grand Island for a number of years. He later moved to O'Neill, farming there until moving to Fremont 30 years ago.

Weston and his wife have been married 55 years and have 6 sons.

Warmer Temps To Visit State

Snow flurries are likely Monday over the Great Lakes, upper Mississippi Valley and northern fringes of the North Atlantic states. Scattered snow flurries are forecast from the Rockies westward to the Cascade and Sierra Mountain ranges while rain and rain showers are slated for the Pacific coast. A warming trend is slated for the Ohio and Tennessee valleys, the middle Mississippi valley and the southern plains states. Colder readings are due for Minnesota. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

DR. PEYTON HONORED AT OPEN HOUSE

Hastings — Dr. Frank Peyton, pastor emeritus of the Hastings First Congregational Church, was honored at an open house Sunday in observance of the 62nd anniversary of his ordination into the ministry.

Dr. Peyton, 92, was pastor of the Hastings church for 17 years, coming from Wellington, Kan. in 1926.

A native of Andersonville, Ky., he was ordained into the ministry in a rural Illinois community in 1898. He served pastores in Oklahoma, Illinois, Kansas and Nebraska.

He retired from the active ministry in 1953 following 11 years as pastor of the Grand Island First Congregational Church, but served the Congregational Church at Doniphan until 18 months ago.

The Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Cushing were host and hostess at the open house in Hastings Sunday which was attended by many of Dr. Peyton's fellow ministers and friends.

DEADLINE NEARS

February 1 is the deadline for taking a loan or purchase agreement on the 1959 wheat, barley, oats, rye, soybean and grain sorghum crops.

The purchase agreement provides low cost insurance against price declines during the rest of the marketing season.

The supply situation on all of these grains is such that market price rises may not even cover the cost of storage. The deadline for placing corn under price support is May 31.

Hruska Names Cadet Nominees

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Roman Hruska (R-Neb.) Sunday announced his nominees for appointment to the army, navy and air force military academies.

The candidates who are accepted will enter the academies at West Point, Annapolis and Colorado Springs this spring.

The 4 nominees for the army academy are Ralph D. Wees, Gordon Thomas Rhoades and George F. Vlask Jr., all of Omaha, and Ronald G. Toman, Plattsburgh.

Donald Williston, Lincoln, and Ralph Williams, Scottsbluff, were named as the principal nominees for two appointments to the naval academy.

The 5 alternates under Williams were Fred Windle Jr., Nebraska City; Robert Farr, Omaha; Dennis O'Brien, Omaha; Ralph Hoffman, Humboldt, and John Hyson II, Omaha.

The 11 nominees who will compete for air academy appointments were John Lydick, Omaha; Kirk Nichols, North Platte; James Hermanson, Lincoln; Richard Cunningham, Omaha; Reed Mattingly, Grand Island; Gary Peters, Omaha; Randall Hoth, Omaha; Dennis Hollis, Omaha; Lonny Klein, Cozad; Kenneth Allen, Omaha, and Paul Madgett, Omaha.

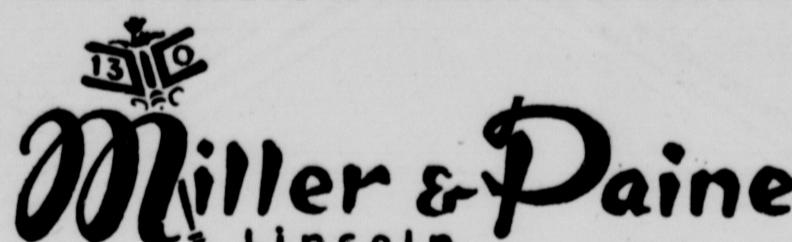

The 11 nominees who will compete for air academy appointments were John Lydick, Omaha; Kirk Nichols, North Platte; James Hermanson, Lincoln; Richard Cunningham, Omaha; Reed Mattingly, Grand Island; Gary Peters, Omaha; Randall Hoth, Omaha; Dennis Hollis, Omaha; Lonny Klein, Cozad; Kenneth Allen, Omaha, and Paul Madgett, Omaha.

Up with gusto and goodwill this morning and singing in the shower: "Oh, He Trod on the Tail of Me Coat." I am in excellent voice.

"T w a s there I learned readin' and writin'

"At Billy B r a c k e t t's where I went to school.

"T w a s there I learned howlin' and fightin'

"From me schoolmaster, Mister O'Toole."

My household does not join me in song. There is a lot of muttering about "It is a good thing we don't live in an apartment house." Things like that.

I do not care. I am a self-contained songbird. A lark about the house.

I am in good company. In Stafford, England, 50 men who operate electronic brains went on strike for the right to whistle while they work.

I am for singing and whistling. Except, of course, in newspaper offices. (It is very, very bad luck to whistle in a newspaper office. Did you know that? True.)

You should not whistle on ships, either. Or in a theatrical dressing room. Also, girls should not whistle.

"A whistling girl and a crowing hen, Always come to no good end."

It is all right to whistle AT a girl.

Our son is learning to whistle. I am teaching him. So far, he can only blow. No sound comes out. However, he has plenty of time. There is really nothing around in his bracket to whistle at.

A girl should not whistle. But she should read Harper's or some other thoughtful magazine before going out on a date. So she will have something to talk about.

(You can read it under the dryer, but should bring the magazine with you. Most beauty parlors only offer Real Screen Life.)

The girl reads a magazine full of high-caliber thought. Then she is able to tell her date:

"The Berlin situation is fraught with a number of dangers. Only today I was reading, etc."

Her date sits up and takes notice.

"What an intelligent chick!" he thinks. "Here I was looking toward another evening of boredom with nothing but candlelight, champagne and amorous this and that."

He blows out the candle and turns up the electricity. They have a doll of an evening swapping notes on the Queen's crisis.

Trudi Schmidt won a wardrobe and a year's beauty treatments as the best office worker of the year in Zurich, Switzerland.

"I have learned five languages. But I have not yet found one in which silence is not more eloquent than speech," she told reporters. She then went on to chatter like a magpie.

My popularity with bosses?" said Trudi. "Well, as Publius Syrus said: 'I have often regretted my speech but never my silence.' Or Euripedes put it very well: 'Silence is an answer to a wise man.'

"Ja wohl," said the reporter, who were more than impressed.

Trudi is married. And she also recommended silence around the house.

"It is then I recall the words of your American playwright, S. N. Behrman: 'Oh, for a woman who will not talk while making love!'"

Trudi then went off to the beauty parlor for her free treatment.

Nothing is recorded about the interviewing reporters.

I gather they were speechless.

Plans were announced for a Midwest Industrial Procurement Session in Omaha Feb. 12 to acquaint industrial representatives and businessmen of a 6-state area with the procurement policies of the federal government.

The announcement came from David Osterhout, Chief of the Division of Nebraska Resources, which is co-sponsoring the one-day session with the Iowa Development Commission, Small Business Administration, Omaha and Northern Natural Gas Company.

Invitations have been sent to businesses and industries in Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, Kansas and Missouri. The session is open to any firm interested in learning how to sell its goods or services to the government.

VENTURI WINS WITH 286

Weather Pesters Crosby's Golfest

Pebble Beach, Calif. (P) - Slim Ken Venturi battled rain and blustering winds Sunday to win Bing Crosby's $50,000 golf tournament with a 72-hole score of 286.

Venturi's score soared to a 5-over-par 77 over the wind-swept Pebble Beach course along the Pacific Ocean. But the miserable weather also boosted the scores of his competitors and Venturi won by 3 strokes. It meant $4,000 for the young Californian.

Tied in second place were former U.S. Open champion Julius Boros with a 73-289 and youthful Tommy Jacobs of Arcadia, Calif., with 75-289. Deadlocked at 290 were Ed (Porky) Oliver of Denver with a 76 Sunday and Don January of Littleton, Colo., with 78.

Gene Littler of San Diego, Venturi's chief competitor for the first two rounds, skidded to an 89 over the tricky layout Sunday and finished at 291, the same total chalked up by Billy Maxwell of Dallas, Tex., who finished with a 78.

Venturi, a San Franciscan now playing out of Palo Alto, collected the $4,000 top prize as the tournament's low pro and added $1,350 for a second place tie in the pro-amateur division. He teamed with Harvey Ward Jr., of San Francisco, for 265.

The top prizes were swept by golfers from the San Francisco area. The pro-amateur winners were Bud Ward of San Mateo and San Francisco city champion Bob Silvestri. Bud Ward collected $2,000.

"In 10 years of playing over this course, this was the worst weather I've seen here," Venturi declared. "I thought the day would never end."

Venturi collected just one birdie — on the 11th hole when he dropped a 4-foot putt. He went over par on 6 holes including 3 of the last 5.

Top scores, winnings:

Ken Venturi	70-71-68-77-286 ($4,000)
Julius Boros	73-71-72-73-289 ($2,150)

New Leaders In Men's Women's Singles Rolling

New leaders were present in both the men's and women's singles as Lincoln's city bowling tournament turned the first corner Sunday night. Loren Workman of the American Legion League and Endi Oshman were the new pacesetters replacing B. D. (Pat) Pattison and Jean Gaines respectively.

Workman's pinfall of 599 plus a 78-pin handicap helped him to clear Pattison's 658 aggregate.

Mrs. Oshman's 576-54-630 was 18 pins above Mrs. Gaines' 612 registered Saturday.

Mrs. Gaines fell to 5th in the ranks and Pattison to 3rd.

Ulrich's Lockers of the Northeast Lancaster League retained the men's team leadership despite the loss of 3 pins.

The team's original scratch score was reported as 2538. A double check gave them a 2535 total. Skylane Bar, Orphans, Thompson TV and Journal Star No. 2 were new teams in the top 10.

Louise Davila and Phyllis Thompson held on to their lead in the women's doubles chase.

Charles Eno and Ed Junker stayed on top in the men's doubles at 1245. Brothers John and Stu Maseeman tied Martin Kelly and Larry Newman for the runnerup spot at 1221.

Women's teams swing into action for the first time tonight at 6:30 and 8:45. Standings:

CAME TO VISIT—

Gamble's Dad Rebuffed At Grandmother's Door

New York (AP)—The father of Gamble Benedict, the poor little rich girl who ran away to Paris for love, was refused permission Sunday to see his daughter.

Dr. James Douglass Sharpe was turned away from the exclusive East Side Manhattan home of Gamble's guardian and grandmother, the millionairess Mrs. Katherine Geddes Benedict.

"They refused to admit me," said the Brattleboro, Vt., doctor. "This is typical."

Dr. Sharpe gave custody of the girl and her brother to Mrs. Benedict shortly after their mother committed suicide in 1946.

Gamble was hurried home by her brother Douglas, 21, and a family lawyer after a 4-week escapade with a married Romanian, 35-year-old Andre Porumbeau.

Her father was among the crowd of spectators at Idlewild Airport who strained and scrambled for a glimpse at the weeping, 19-year-old heiress.

Helped To Car

Still distraught over her separation from her sweetheart, Gamble had to be carried by 3 policemen from an airport building to a waiting car.

The grieving girl was quickly hurried to the seclusion of her grandmother's home.

She had been whisked out of Paris—the city that traditionally smiles at lovers—on a court order obtained from French authorities by Benedict family attorneys.

Porumbeau, with whom she fled from New York last Dec. 27, hours after her glittering coming-out party, wasn't even permitted to bid her goodbye.

Official Stickup

He was delayed on a technicality—a check of his papers—until the plane took off. He was reported in mournful seclusion somewhere in the French capital.

His gloom was lightened somewhat by a trans-Atlantic phone call he said he received after Gamble arrived home.

In a copyrighted story in the New York Daily News, Porumbeau was quoted as saying:

"She didn't tell me where she was calling from. And she didn't tell me whether she was calling with the consent of her grandmother."

But he said that when she called "to tell me she loves me and will wait for me" she saved his "sanity and perhaps my life."

Porumbeau said he told her "They'll have to kill me to keep me from marrying you."

Hollingsworth Again Heads City Mission

Robert G. Hollingsworth was re-elected president of the Lincoln City Mission Sunday afternoon.

Other new officers are the Rev. Marvin B. Herrick, re-elected vice-president; James M. Illest, secretary; and H. A. McKinney, re-elected treasurer.

Trustees elected to the executive committee are the Rev. Charles Wilson, Ray Wilson and Edgar Walvoord.

Superintendent George M. Chenot reported 20,177 persons were served at the Mission during 1959, lodging was provided for 10,488, and jobs were secured for 3,000.

A total of 30,550 meals were served, and a total of 493 boxes of food and 1,839 articles of clothing were distributed during the year. Gas and oil were furnished 19 stranded travelers.

Chenot also reported that zoo treats and gifts were given at Christmas time and small amounts of money were spent for medicine, fuel oil, burial expenses for a baby, and transportation for a young girl stranded in Lincoln on Christmas Day.

Budget for 1960 was set at $18,402, $14,341 of which was allocated from the Community Chest. Last year's budget was $17,261, with the Community Chest providing $13,750 of the amount.

260 Chinchillas Compete At Annual Contest Here

"It takes good blueness of color, dense fur with a lot of strength and an overall pattern of color that blends evenly into the white belly line."

These, according to judges Elmer Krebs of Nebraska City and Lewis Hostetter of Oklahoma City, Okla., are the prime requirements for a grand champion chinchilla.

The judges had just finished judging 260 animals from 6 states at the 10th annual chinchilla show sponsored by the Nebraska Branch of the National Chinchilla Breeders of America, Inc., at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Lions Share

Harold Anderson of Atlantic, Ia., won the lion's share of the honors as he exhibited the best chinchilla pelt, the grand champion chinchilla and was awarded the outstanding breeders plaque.

V. P. Wyatt of Sutherland, Neb., was awarded second place in the top breeder competition and third went to Harvey Carry of Auburn, Ia.

Color champion trophies

went to:

Anderson, light color champion; Carry, medium light color champion; Anderson, medium color; medium dark color and dark color champions.

Reserve Champs

Reserve color championship awards went to: Wyatt, light; medium and medium light;

A SNOWFALL OF 11 INCHES CONTAINS LESS WATER THAN ONE INCH OF RAINFALL!!

MARGARET CORBIN TOOK HER HUSBAND'S PLACE AS A LIEUTENANT OF ARTILLERY WHEN HE WAS KILLED DURING THE BATTLE OF WASHINGTON HEIGHTS, NOV. 16, 1776. SHE WAS THE FIRST WOMAN WHO EVER FOUGHT FOR THE UNITED STATES-- AND, SERIOUSLY WOUNDED, THE FIRST TO BE PENSIONED!
